My Daily Mantra & Prayer

I am reminding myself of who I truly am! I am also creating my awareness for right thinking!

I am a child of God that was created with a perfect spirit. Through my imperfect flesh body-mind-thought that is worldly, my true nature is a being of love and goodness from my created spirit because I was created by God, I am in God, and live through God, as His Word so states.

I am reminding myself that God's love for me is absolute, never changing, and that He wants the best for me through His love, and the love from and through His Son Jesus, as the Word so states.

I understand the reason for the world to have polarity-negativity. Negativity is a freewill choice so that through those experiences, I understand purpose, and how I see the world from my truths. I have free will to choose His love, or to choose those experiences that do not serve me and those things in life that are not from goodness and love.

I am creating my awareness to change my thinking from all negativities and judgements from the past into this present day because those negativities do not serve me. I did not realize that I create and judge my own life situations positive and negative.
I understand that polarity has purpose to learn and understand, to bring to light what life truly is through those experiences. I forgive myself and all others from my past into my present. I also realize that I am judging myself by correcting my wrong thinking to right thinking, as the Word so states.

I understand that I can heal from my dis-ease by letting go of past judgements, negativities, wrong thinking and actions that have nothing to do with the blessings that are currently in my life.

Today I choose NOT to live by those things from my ego-mind. I am leaving my ego "at the door", and I understand that all souls have that same love from God as myself. Therefore, I will not judge anything or anyone because I am not God as the Word so states.

Now I understand what true faith and trust in God really is.

I ask myself, how can my thinking and/or actions from a negative perspective serve my goodness and my life today?
To what end is the thought and/or actions if it is not by way the way of goodness and love?

Do I not realize that negative thoughts produce a negative present and a negative future? Or to bring a negative thought from the past into my present?

How does any negativity work with my interactions in this world? Does it help me to love and serve others? Are we not all equal and connected to God as the Word states?

I relinquish ANY disease (dis-ease), because it does not serve me and my purposes in my life. My healing can be miraculous, or by time. I understand that my body can regenerate and heal as the Word states, therefore, I so choose.

I am an eternal living soul, living eternal life from love, because love is life, as the Word so states.

Amen. MJI (LightWorker)